Dear all,

Recently, we updated the AGI website with all current information. We are happy to share it with you now.

On the website, we showcase AGI projects. You can find more information on this and how to submit your own project proposal in this newsletter.

Best wishes,
The Ataxia Global Office
Holm Graessner, Birte Zurek, and Annemarie Post

The Ataxia Global Initiative (AGI) is a worldwide research platform that has the goal to facilitate the clinical development of therapies for ataxias. AGI's activities are based on the principles of openness, transparency, flexibility and fairness.

AGI PROJECTS

The project proposals that were submitted after the SCA&ARCA Global conference in October last year have been evaluated by the AGI Steering Committee and can now be found on the website: <http://ataxia-global-initiative.net/projects/>

AGI projects are projects proposed by AGI members and endorsed by the Steering Committee. They should present first project ideas for strongly collaborative, genuine Ataxia Global projects, and should be translational in character, focussing on trial-readiness.

We would like to invite you to submit an Ataxia Global Initiative project proposal.

These will be collected, refined, elaborated and coordinated further by the Ataxia Global Initiative as trial-readiness platforms. These further processing steps will catalyse the collaborative character of the projects. Please note that the Ataxia Global Initiative is not a funding organisation.

You can submit your proposal to ataxiaglobaloffice@med.uni-tuebingen.de by September 30, 2021. Please use this template.
